

Sennheiser electronic GmbH & Co. KG

For almost 60 years Sennheiser has been renowned for first class products and custom solutions in sound recording, transmission and reproduction.

Sennheiser has earned its reputation for the world's highest quality electro-acoustic products with its microphones and headphones -- widely are regarded as setting the standard --; RF and infrared transmission systems; conference, visitor and information systems; assistive listening devices; and aviation headsets.

With a workforce of more than 1,500 world-wide, Sennheiser is headquartered in Wedemark near Hanover and operates four manufacturing plants, two in Germany and one each in Ireland and the USA. Many patents and awards, including the Scientific and Engineering Award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, an Emmy and a Grammy bear witness to the innovative dynamism of Sennheiser.
